Overcome Deal Hurdles

In corporate development, keeping a deal moving efficiently from initial due diligence through closing has long been plagued by the time-consuming, dated methods of manually managing the deal workflow.

Even today, most corporate development professionals struggle to rein in the deal management process with documents stored across numerous hard drives, sensitive deal data spread across multiple Excel® spreadsheets, frequent conference calls with the deal team to gauge project status, and a myriad of emails that compromise security.

Institute a Process

To maintain a competitive advantage in today's dealmaking climate, corporate development teams need to keep the deal flowing smoothly with standardized deal management software that unifies the process in a secure, user-friendly channel.

Intralinks Dealmanager: A Dealmaking Revolution

Intralinks Dealmanager makes dealmaking more efficient – giving you back the time and resources that make your workday a bit easier. Intralinks Dealmanager is a new application built specifically for corporate development teams that unifies all the aspects of the M&A deal – providing you and your team a secure, transparent, and central point of access to all facets of your deal, complete with a record of the entire process.

Intralinks Dealmanager: A single, secure vantage point over your entire deal pipeline.

Built on the renowned Intralinks platform - featuring IRM by design™ and seamless integration with Intralinks Dealspace® VDRs - Intralinks Dealmanager keeps your work secure and compliant.

- Standardize the deal process. Provide your team a single, feature-rich application for capturing communications and documentation of your deal WITHOUT multiple spreadsheets or file locations, or the need for numerous conference calls.
- Streamline collaboration. Track progress and keep team members and third-party partners aware of action items throughout the entire deal lifecycle with the Intralinks Dealmanager tasking feature.
- Improve visibility into your deal pipeline. Consolidate information at your fingertips and quickly generate reports for the corporate development team as well as key stakeholders.
- Create a living archive of your deal activity. Easily access and repurpose financial models, market research, or due diligence from past transactions.

Rely on Intralinks Dealmanager to manage everything from the deal pipeline and due diligence to post-deal integration.
